

Asbestos

The attorneys in our asbestos practice group have been defending clients against asbestos exposure claims for approximately 30 years. Our clients have included utility companies, equipment manufacturers, equipment suppliers, and general contractors. We provide strategic and results-oriented representation in all aspects of asbestos litigation, from preparing PMK witnesses for depositions to trying cases through verdict.

More Than 30 Years of Experience Defending Against Asbestos Exposure Claims

Our asbestos litigation team is comprised of six attorneys who all have significant experience defending clients in state and federal courts in New York City Asbestos Litigation (NYCAL) as well as proceedings in upstate New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island. We also provide strategic advice to clients who are defending against asbestos exposure claims in other state and federal jurisdictions nationwide.

The attorneys on our asbestos litigation team pride themselves on their ability to provide simple, efficient and effective representation to clients in this complex area. We work closely with our clients and trusted experts to uncover the true facts at hand and develop sound and cost-conscious strategies for achieving favorable results. Regardless of the circumstances at hand, our attorneys take an aggressive posture focused on avoiding or mitigating liability to the greatest extent possible, and they call upon their decades of experience in asbestos exposure litigation to help clients make informed decisions about pursuing settlement or fighting plaintiffs' claims at trial.
