

Cullen and Dykman Expands Tax Litigation Capabilities with Addition of Nicholas Connolly

January 22, 2024

Uniondale, NY – Cullen and Dykman LLP, one of New York State’s oldest law firms with a history dating back to 1850, is pleased to announce the addition of Nicholas J. Connolly as Of Counsel in its Corporate Department, further enhancing the firm’s capabilities in real estate tax litigation.

Nick brings a wealth of experience to Cullen and Dykman, specializing in providing strategic representation for property owners across New York State. His focus on taxation, real property valuation, and real estate tax assessment proceedings solidifies Cullen and Dykman’s position as a powerhouse in tax litigation.

With a robust litigation background, Nick has successfully navigated valuations for a diverse range of real estate types. His proficiency extends to office buildings, shopping centers, hotels, condominium and cooperative complexes, golf courses and country clubs, industrial and manufacturing facilities, and residential properties.

“Nick’s arrival at Cullen and Dykman brings a new wave of excitement. His expertise in real estate tax litigation enhances our firm’s capabilities, reinforcing our standing as a key player in this field,” noted Christopher H. Palmer, Managing Partner at Cullen and Dykman.

Nick earned his J.D. from Elisabeth Haub School of Law at Pace University and B.S. from the University of Scranton. He is admitted to practice law in New York and New Jersey.
